

Astrata – Location Based Solutions

The Astrata Group is one of the fastest-growing companies in the Telematics sector of the Location Based Solutions industry.

Astrata provides advanced positioning products, monitoring, and airtime services to commercial and governmental entities in a number of markets, including homeland security, public safety, transportation and construction, in Asia, Europe, the Middle East and The Americas.

Astrata's advanced location-based IT services and solutions (GEO-IT) combine

GPS, wireless communications and geographical information technologies; the company's products enable customers to monitor, track or control the movement and status of machinery, vehicles, personnel and other assets.

Astrata has designed, developed, manufactured and currently supports seven generations of GEO-IT systems with units deployed worldwide.

Telematics products often focus on people and assets in hostile and demanding environments such as emergency services or monitoring the movement of hazardous materials for homeland security purposes. The Telematics segment also addresses the market for fleet management, track and trace, workforce and remote asset management by providing hardware for GPS information and data collection, as well as the software needed to access and analyze the data through the Internet.

Today, a US publicly traded company with offices throughout the world, Astrata has grown by incorporating new technologies into its product range that answer ever-expanding market needs.

These technologies have resulted in tremendous organic growth and the creation of a world class international organisation with new divisions to service specific markets.

Astrata's systems and solutions are used in many applications including:

- Homeland Security
- Cash in Transit
- Fleet Management
- Transit Tracking
- Vehicle Recovery
- Driver Profiling
